Regional Planning Organization names ULI Sacramento 2008 Agency of the Year

SACRAMENTO — December 11, 2008 — The Sacramento Area Council of Governments (SACOG), the region’s most respected and vital regional planning agency, has announced the “2008 SACOG Salutes!” award recipients. SACOG honored Urban Land Institute (ULI) Sacramento today, naming it 2008 Organization of the Year.

“This is a tremendous honor,” responds John Hodgson, ULI Sacramento District Council Chair. “SACOG is a vital agency, helping shape the way this region grows. Think about that, tackling the issues our children and grandchildren will face - where they will live and work, how they will travel. That is extremely important and to have SACOG name ULI Sacramento organization of the year is quite an honor.”

ULI is the preeminent, multidisciplinary, and international real estate research forum dedicated to creating better places to live and work. ULI facilitates the open exchange of ideas, information and experience among local, national and international industry leaders and policy makers. Likewise the region’s local chapter, ULI Sacramento is dedicated to responsible land use and sustainable growth, and its membership has grown to more than 500 from all areas of business and government.

Who is ULI Sacramento?

ULI Sacramento is the voice for responsible land use in the greater Sacramento region.
