Program Description

As a ULI Young Leader, you are invited to attend a unique, interactive program about Sacramento's urban design and development trends. Sacramento is growing rapidly and new attention is being paid to the city's potential as an urban center. Opportunities to adopt industry best practices and develop its own best practices are the hot issues. What kind of changes should we expect in Sacramento's next decade and beyond? How do we balance demands for growth and open space? What are some of the challenges that lie ahead? Listen to our region's distinguished experts discuss critical issues that shape our urban and community fabric.

Jeffrey DeMure, AIA, one of the country's most renowned design professionals and President of Jeffrey DeMure + Associates Architects Planners, Inc. (JD+A), will provide insight on some of the region's cutting-edge development projects, cultural infrastructure and the harmonization of tightly integrated architecture and land planning solutions.
